

“Way to go, HWH!”

Dear HWH,

I've been in the RV business in one way or another since 1973. In all of that time, I have never heard a bad word from a customer about the treatment they have received from HWH. To a person, they have always been very complimentary of your service after the sale.

I am of the opinion that if all suppliers treated customers with the kind of personalized courtesy and consideration that HWH does, this industry would be twice the size it is now. Most suppliers think that the RV manufacturer is the customer. HWH thinks the consumer is the customer—what a novel approach!

It has always appeared to me that HWH operates under the Golden Rule. I like that, so I just wanted to say, “Way to go.”
